

Federal Government News You Can Use

Business Opportunities at the Department of Homeland Security

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS), the newest federal agency, spends millions of dollars each year. Much of that spending is used to purchase goods and services that are vital to the functioning of the Department and the security of our nation. The link below is a new publication distributed by the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Homeland Security which details business opportunities at the Department of Homeland Security.

<http://homeland.house.gov/SiteDocuments/dhsbizopsapril.pdf>

Where can I find transportation information for people with disabilities?

There are a variety of resources available to assist people with disabilities with their transportation needs. DisabilityInfo.gov maintains information and links to various transportation resources for the disabled, and Project Action's online National Accessible Traveler's Database allows individuals to find local transportation that is accessible to the disabled. Project Action also provides information on many transportation subjects that affect the disabled, including consumer education, paratransit eligibility, and general information on accessible transportation. Finally, if you have a complaint about compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) regulations, the U.S. Department of Justice's ADA Information Line should be able to help. Visit USA.gov for links to all these resources.

There are a variety of resources available to assist the disabled with their transportation needs.

- DisabilityInfo.Gov - This web site maintains information and links to various transportation resources for the disabled.
- Project Action - Project Action's online National Accessible Traveler's Database allows individuals to find local transportation that is accessible to the disabled.

The Easter Seals' Project Action is a Federally-funded program that provides information on various transportation issues affecting the disabled. They also provide free information on many transportation subjects that affect the disabled, including consumer education, paratransit eligibility, and general information on accessible transportation. For more information, or help with locating transportation assistance for the disabled, contact Project Action.
